FOREWORD

This Handbook gives details of the members of the Planning and Environment Bar Association (“PEBA”). Our members are barristers specialising in the fields of planning, environment, highways, rating, compulsory purchase, housing, town and village greens and other aspects of local government administration and finance. We undertake a wide range of advisory work and appearances in the civil and criminal courts, public inquiries, examinations, hearings and tribunals on behalf of anyone in need of expert advice and representation. Several of our members are also trained mediators.

In representing its members, PEBA is in frequent contact with Government departments and agencies, and professional bodies in our field. Through our involvement with PINS and MHCLG, we continue to seek to assist those responsible for policy development, administrators and decision makers in a continually changing environment. In the last year, we have also worked with the Law Society, the RTPI, the CPA, the BSB and the Law Commission in formulating or responding to various initiatives.

We place great emphasis on continuing education for our members. Our flagship event is the National Conference, which this year will be held on 18 May 2018. We also hold an annual advocacy seminar and an annual seminar with PINS.

We continue to support pro bono representation for persons who would otherwise be unable to obtain legal help. A number of our members are members of the Bar Pro Bono Panel. We are currently working with the Planning Court to investigate the feasibility of a pro bono representation scheme in the High Court.

We hope you will find this Handbook useful. Our website (www.peba.org.uk) contains further information.

INSTRUCTING A MEMBER OF PEBA

Any member of the Association may accept instructions from a solicitor. Alternatively, in the case of most, if not all members, instructions may be given by a member of any of the professions recognised by the Bar Council for the purpose of Licensed Access (formerly Direct Professional Access).

LICENSED ACCESS

Since April 1989, members of a number of professional bodies, in addition to solicitors, have been able to seek advice direct from barristers (counsel), and may instruct barristers in non-court litigation in relation to matters which are within their normal professional expertise.

This scheme (previously known as Direct Professional Access (DPA)) has proved to be a popular way of instructing members of the Association, particularly in relation to obtaining legal advice and representation before inquiries and tribunals—including the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber)—and in magistrates' courts.

The bodies whose members may instruct barristers, so far as relevant to the types of work carried out by members of the Association, currently include the following:

- Architects Registration Council of the UK
- Association of Consultant Architects
- The Architects and Surveyors Institute
- The Royal Institute of British Architects
- The Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors
- The Royal Town Planning Institute.

The scheme does not operate if at any stage a barrister considers that the interests of the lay client or the administration of justice require that a solicitor be instructed, amongst other limitations.

In addition, a number of other bodies have been granted group licences (formerly under the BarDIRECT scheme), enabling their members to instruct members of the Association, but only on certain matters. They include the following:

- The Academy of Experts
- The Chartered Institute of Legal Executives.

The contact details for all of these bodies are in Part Five of this Handbook. Both the Bar Council and the relevant professional body can provide guidance notes on how to instruct a barrister.

More details of the Licensed Access scheme, including a complete and up-to-date list of bodies that have licences, may be obtained by visiting the Bar Council website (www.barcouncil.org.uk).

PUBLIC ACCESS

Since July 2004, it has been possible for members of the public to instruct barristers directly, without the need to employ a professionally qualified intermediary, in relation to certain categories of work.

However, this applies only where the barrister concerned, and at least one clerk in his or her chambers, has been appropriately trained. Even then, it does not apply where the barrister considers that the case is complex and will require work to be undertaken by a solicitor or other qualified person, or that the interests of the lay client require the involvement of such a person, or that the proposed fee is insufficient. For further details, the Bar Council's website (www.barcouncil.org.uk) should be consulted.

THE BAR PRO BONO UNIT

The Unit is a charity that was established in 1996 to provide pro bono (free) legal advice and representation in deserving cases where the applicant is unable to afford legal assistance and where Legal Aid is not available.

Advice and representation is provided by barristers who have volunteered to join the Bar Pro Bono Panel. The Panel consists of barristers—both juniors and QCs—from all over England and Wales, including members of the Association, each of whom has offered his or her services free of charge for at least three days a year.

For further details contact the Bar Pro Bono Unit at 48 Chancery Lane, London, WC2A 1JF, (DX: 188 London / Chancery Lane), tel: (020) 7092 3960; fax: (020) 7611 9505; e-mail: enquiries@barprobono.org.uk.

All applications for assistance must be made in writing on the Unit's application form (available on its website: www.barprobono.org.uk).

THE ENVIRONMENTAL LAW FOUNDATION

The Environmental Law Foundation (ELF) is a charity that has a number of barristers and solicitors, including some members of the Association, who are willing to provide free initial advice in relation to environmental (including planning) problems, by means of an individual licence under the Licensed Access scheme.

This service is available to private individuals, community organisations and similar bodies. For details, e-mail: info17@elflaw.org or visit www.elflaw.org.

PART TWO

MEMBERS OF PEBA

This Part of the Handbook lists all those who are currently members of the Association. The website of the member's chambers should be visited for further details of the member's past experience, specialist expertise, publications, other qualifications and judicial or other appointments. The date immediately following the name of each member is the date on which he or she was called to the Bar of England and Wales; call to the Bar in another jurisdiction is only recorded if it was prior to call in England and Wales.

Those requiring further details of any member of the Association, for example to ascertain their suitability for a particular instruction, should consult his or her clerk. Alternatively, the relevant chambers website will usually contain a full CV of each member, including details of educational qualifications, call to Bars outside England and Wales (including those of Scotland, Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland) and membership of other professional bodies.

PART THREE

CHAMBERS CONTAINING

PEBA MEMBERS

This Part of the Handbook lists, on a geographical basis, all barristers' chambers containing one or more members of the Association, and all members of the Association working as sole practitioners. The e-mail address given is that of the clerks.

The date immediately following the name of each member is the date on which he or she was called to the Bar of England and Wales; call to the Bar in another jurisdiction is only recorded if it was prior to call in England and Wales. As for membership of other bars—including those of Scotland, Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland—in other circumstances, the relevant chambers' website should be consulted.

Up-to-date information may be obtained on the Association's web-site—
www.peba.org.uk.

SOME USEFUL LINKS

The information in this section is believed to be accurate as at March 2018.

The telephone number given is in most cases that of a general switchboard or enquiry office; most officials in large organisations have direct lines. E-mail addresses and fax numbers should be ascertained by telephoning the person to whom the e-mail or fax is to be sent, or by reference to the relevant website.

Up-to-date information may be obtained on the Association's website—www.peba.org.uk.

In many cases the most up-to-date information may be obtained from the website of the organisation concerned, which may also be a good source of links to other, related websites.
